

Dana Expands Spicer® Web Catalog

The Spicer® web catalog provides members with access to the brand's complete product portfolio of driveshafts for light vehicles, commercial vehicles, and off-highway vehicles; axles; transmissions; crate axles; and more. The online catalog also includes detailed information on components and more than 250,000 searchable cross-references to competitor parts and corresponding Spicer® products.

"We are excited to connect our customers to our brand with an additional level of service through this enhanced online experience," said Guido Reiter, driveshaft product manager, Dana Aftermarket Group. "By bringing this range of products to our web catalog, Dana takes an important step in elevating the customer experience with new products and applications."

Updates to the product information and web catalog experience are performed regularly to provide users with the most timely information in a format that is easy to navigate. Dana also made reference information available via the web catalog, ensuring Dana's Aftermarket Group catalog data is easily accessible.
